Family Passion for Philanthropy Inspires Gifts of $120,000 to Campaign

For over 60 years, George and Patty Selover have been models of community service as shown by their passion for volunteerism and philanthropic giving. They have passed down these passions to their daughter and son-in-law, Mary and Bill Underriner, President and CEO of Underriner Motors.

“Mom and Dad taught us philanthropic values through their community engagement. Their example taught us to identify the change we would like to see in our community and take action,” said Mary.

Regarding their longtime support of RiverStone Health, Mary said, “Bill and I would love to see a future where no person, especially a child, goes without basic healthcare. We know RiverStone Health shares this vision.”

With combined family gifts of $120,000 to the Building a Healthy Community capital campaign, their support of RiverStone Health’s expansion and renovation project is confirmation of their continued dedication to Billings.

“Patty and I support the new RiverStone Health Clinic because of the organization’s commitment to strengthening the community by nurturing individuals and families that call Billings home,” said George. Bill added, “Mary and I believe the new Clinic is an investment in people, not a building, and is a key component in keeping Billings a strong community where people want to live.”

Both families have been influential in shaping the community through their support of projects which meet vital needs. In recognition of their unparalleled leadership, both couples have been designated ‘Outstanding Philanthropists’ by the Montana Chapter of Association of Fundraising Professionals (AFP).

Founded in 1944, Underriner Motors is a family owned and managed dealership, proudly serving Billings for more than 70 years. Their success in business has only meant one thing – their ability to give back to the community has increased.

“We cannot thank Bill, Mary, George and Patty enough for their unwavering support and commitment to our mission. Their generosity is deeply appreciated,” stated John Felton, President and CEO of RiverStone Health.
