

Cynthia L. Foster makes $100,000 Visionary Gift to Campaign

With business roots established in Montana, Cynthia and the late Paul Milan Foster strongly believe in giving to nonprofits in our state. Her spirit of philanthropy led to Cynthia's decision to gift $50,000 to the Building a Healthy Community capital campaign. "I stay true to what Milan and I have always believed – organizations like RiverStone Health fill a real need," said Cynthia. Paul Milan built roads and highways across the state providing a strong infrastructure from which we all benefit. It is their belief in foundational projects that better communities that drives their giving philosophy.

“ We are honored that Cynthia chose to add to her initial gift of $50,000 with an additional $50,000 gift to our campaign. Her generous investment in the newly opened RiverStone Health Clinic is one that will help improve the health of the community. ”

*John Felton, President & CEO
RiverStone Health*

Over the years, Cynthia has followed the growth of RiverStone Health and realizes that access to care is vital to our community. Cynthia's gifts have ensured that RiverStone Health medical staff can utilize a modern testing lab and a state-of-the-art procedure room, both which are necessary in the teaching of tomorrow's healthcare providers.

Community tours the NEW RiverStone Health Clinic

Hundreds of guests joined board members and staff at the RiverStone Health Clinic Open House. The Open House showcased the completion of Phase One of the Building a Healthy Community capital campaign. The New Clinic which features more exam rooms and dedicated teaching space saw its first patients on January 22.

Guided tours and a short program were the highlights of the Open House as guests had the opportunity to learn more about the design process and features of the new RiverStone Health Clinic in the Ballard Center.

Guests were all smiles as they caught their first glimpses of the new Clinic

John Felton; Joan Thullbery, RiverStone Board of Health Chair; and Mayor Bill Cole

Bill Underriner and Kristie Asay discussed how the new Clinic will connect to the existing facility in Phase Two

“ RiverStone Health was delighted to welcome supporters and community investors onto campus for our Open House. Only because of our donors were we able to open Billings' new Community Health Center. ”
